

PURPOSE/POLICY

To provide procedures and guidance for conducting fundraising events in accordance with ICSUAM Policy 15701.00.

The University shall accept fundraising proceeds for support of accepted programs that are consistent with the purpose and goals of the University and that are deemed consistent with the laws, regulations, and policies of the University, state of California and the federal government. Except for events sponsored by one of the University's recognized auxiliary organizations, the University serves as the fiscal agent for Sonoma State's approved fundraising events and activities.

Fundraising events should have the intent to yield net proceeds to the University (i.e. yield a surplus after subtracting the expenses of conducting the event from the revenues collected), or have sufficient funds from other appropriate resources to cover any anticipated deficit in the case where the intangible benefits justify proceeding with the fundraising event.

All departmental fundraising events shall be registered with and approved by University Advancement prior to any solicitation of funds, contractual commitments, sponsorships, literature distribution, or other fundraising event activities.

The words "donation", "contribution", and "charitable gift" may only be used when there is a charitable tax deduction component, as determined by University Advancement.

Fundraising events which provide benefits to a 3rd party require presidential approval.

SCOPE

This policy applies to all departments of the University and the Sonoma State University recognized auxiliary organizations. Fundraising events held by student clubs are not included in the scope of this policy and should be coordinated through the Center for Student Leadership, Involvement and Service (CSLIS) office.

DEFINITIONS

Fundraising Events

Events conducted for the sole or primary purpose of raising charitable funds where participants make a charitable contribution and a purchase for the fair market value of goods or services.

Common examples of fundraising events are:

- Auctions, raffles, concerts, dances, dinners, car washes, golf tournaments, and similar events

Examples that are not considered fundraising events are:

- Sport camps and other events whereby the University is providing a service to an individual for a fee whereby the fee is intended as payment for the service and not as a charitable donation.
- Capital campaigns
- Fundraising solicitations and related prospecting activities intended to generate only a contribution (no purchase of goods or services)
- Alumni relation events
- Unrelated trade or business activities that generate fees for service
- Activities substantially related to the accomplishment of the University's educational purpose

Raffle

A raffle, also known as an opportunity drawing or basket auction, is a scheme for the distribution of prizes by chance among persons who have paid money for paper tickets that provide the opportunity to win these prizes. Each ticket is sold with a detachable coupon or stub, and both the ticket and its associated coupon or stub are marked with a unique and matching identifier. A raffle must be approved by the Chief Operating Officer of the Foundation, Chief Financial Officer of the University, and the Vice President for University Advancement.

The for-profit business usually arranges a flat fee or charges a percentage of the donations collected. Commercial fundraisers must be registered with the Attorney General under California law (see Nonprofit Integrity Act Manual). Employees of the university or its auxiliary organizations are not considered commercial fundraisers. (California Government Code §12599(a)).

Fundraising/Campaign Counsel

A person or corporation who is paid by the university or its auxiliary organizations to manage, advise, counsel, consult or prepare material for, or with respect to, the solicitation in California of funds, assets or property for charitable purposes and who does not (i) solicit funds, assets or property for charitable purposes; (ii) receive or control funds, assets or property solicited for charitable purposes in California; and (iii) employ, procure or engage any compensated person to solicit, receive or control funds, assets or property for charitable purposes. - C. Expenses and revenues of an event should all be recorded in the same business unit. Expenses should not be recorded in one business unit and revenues in another business unit.

9. Auctions

- A. Special accounting and gift processing treatment is needed to track auction sales. All departments who conduct an auction must complete the Auction Worksheet. The Auction Worksheet summarizes the auction transactions and provides necessary information such as:

 3. Buyer gift portion
 4. Sales tax portion, if applicable
 5. Chartfield summary accounting of all the auction transactions
- B. Auctions which include the sale of tangible personal property must charge the applicable state sales tax rate based on the auction sale price. Contact Financial Services for the current sales tax rate.

13. Tax Deductibility of Donor Gifts

- A. None, some or all of the revenue received from an attendee (donor) at a fundraising event may be a tax deductible contribution for the donor. Tax laws, IRS rules and other regulations can make this a complex subject. There are a number of factors that affect the tax deductibility of the gift, including:
1. Wording used to describe the event and the gift associated with it in promotional literature, advertising, and at the event.
 2. The fair market value of any benefits that the donor receives (e.g. food, entertainment, auction item purchased, rounds of golf, etc.)
 3. Intent to make a gift vs. fee for service
- B. University Advancement will advise you regarding the issues that affect the tax deductibility of the donor gifts, help you make the determination as to the tax deductible portion, if any, and will issue an official tax acknowledgement letter, where applicable.

14. Sale Activities

- A. The sale of goods or merchandise (tangible goods) is subject to sales tax unless it is covered by a specific exemption or exclusion. Sales tax generally applies to charges for drinks, food, and meals included in the ticket price of fundraising events.
